About Meenakshi Ramaswamy

Comments

Grandmother measured the coffee not spoons but in the sound... the rhythmic clinking of the brass filter, the bubbling as water bubbling as water passed the grounds, the grounds, the fresh-brewed decoction depicted a soundscape, what the is and the the moment.

Comments

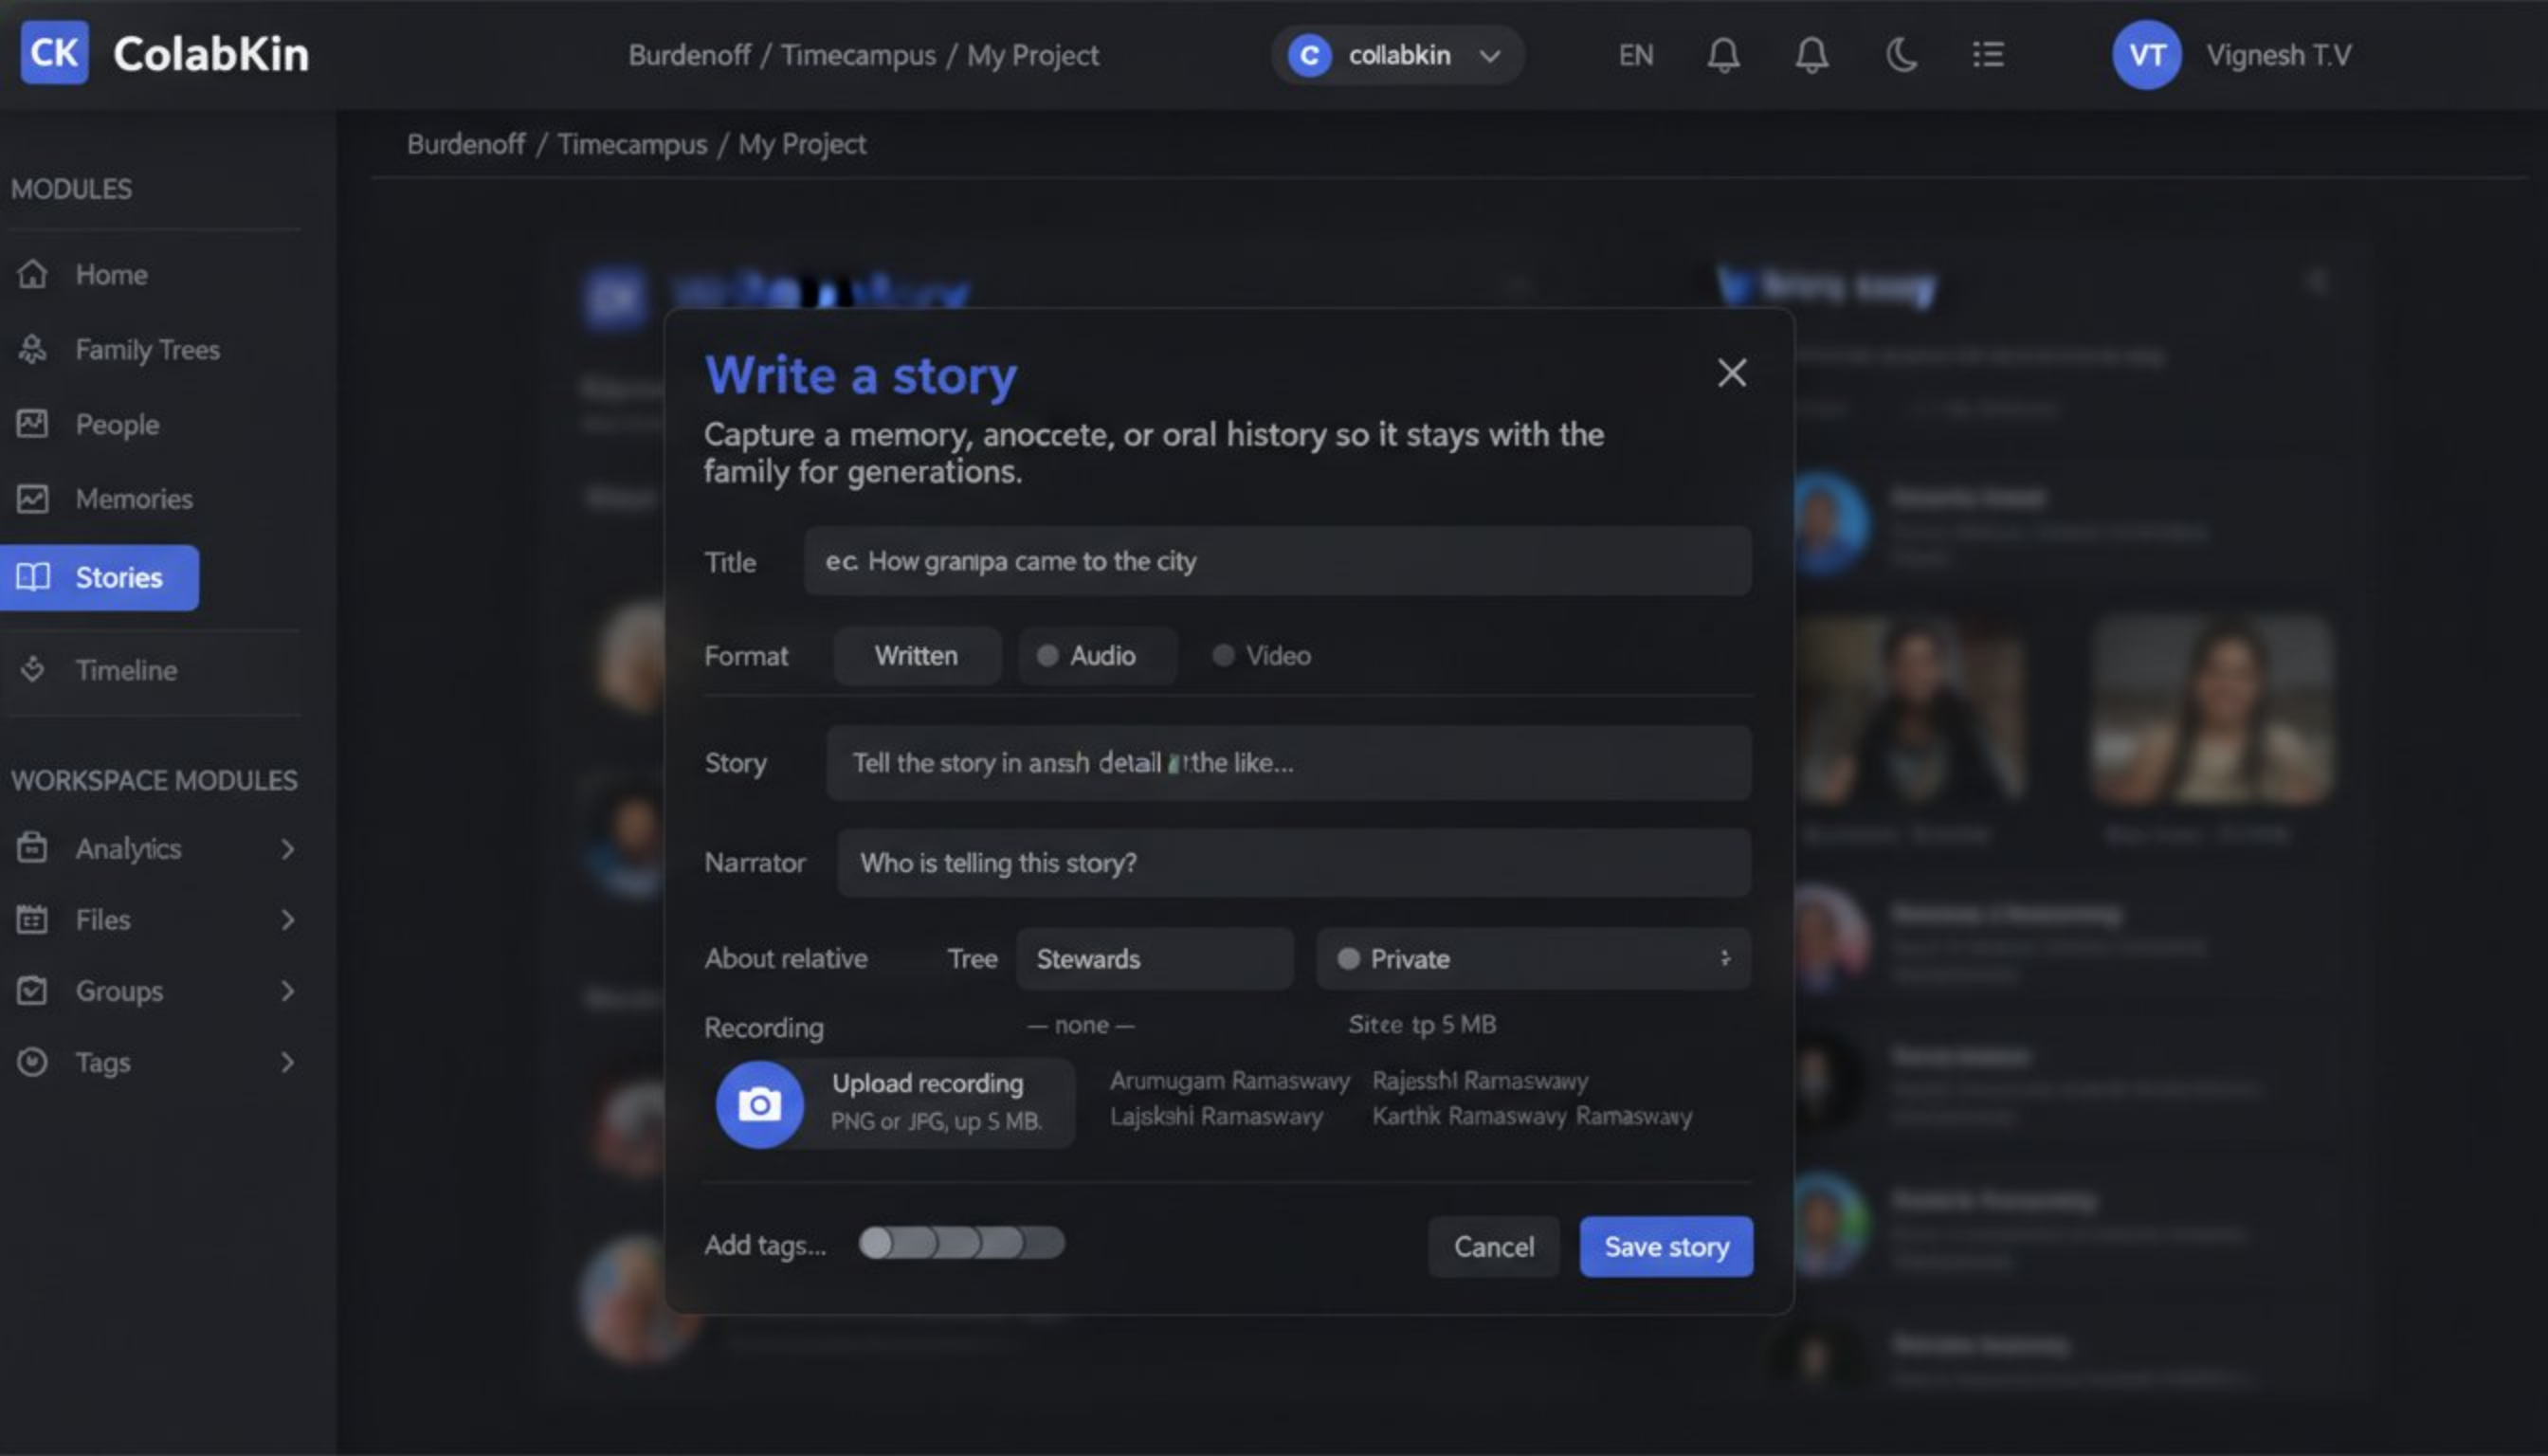

Anitha R. A treasured story — jharuk for the sound of it alive.

Stories / New / Draft for Lakshmi Iyer

 Draft — not part of the family record until you save it.

Format: Written ▾

Narrator: not set ▾

Visibility: Tree ▾

The life of Lakshmi Iyer (1919–1996)

Lakshmi Iyer was born in Thanjavur in 1919, the second of four children. She grew up in her grandmother's house near the temple street.

The record is silent here — 1943 to 1951. Add an event or ask an elder.

The family moved to Chennai in 1951. She taught mathematics at a school in Mylapore for nearly thirty years.

She kept every letter she received. Her daughter Meenakshi remembers the wooden box they were stored in.
